"THE BUCCANEER."

Harvard Pi Eta Play Will Be Produced in Two Weeks—Stevens Librettist and Barry Composer.

The Pi Eta play this year, the first performance of which is to be given in Hattie Hall at Cambridge on Saturday, May 25, will be especially brilliant and bids fair to rival the successful Hasty Pudding play, "Persephone."

Since the Harvard clubs have made it a point to give a play each year, if possible, the Pi Eta performances have always been of the best. This year the men have endeavored themselves and have prepared an elaborate opéra-comique in two acts, called "The Buccaneer."

The play will be tinged with the usual amount of college jokes, which always interest Harvard performance-goers. Stevens

The solution of the problem will be made under the heads "Strategy," "Cost Decisions," and "Tactics." Under each of these headings the class will be directed in their method by certain lines of questioning and heuristics by which they will be required to define clearly the purpose of each movement. Among other things they will be required to define clearly the "out forces to make," the "in forces," which they required to indicate the enemy's probable plans, to offset every movement for our own forces. The class must plan for interrupting the enemy's communications, also to plan for the defence of Nanuet Sound, and to indicate whether it is better to attack by night or day. The class must also plan for the provisioning and coaling of our forces, and to locate camps and hospitals.

The class will have scores of little blockades representing vessels of war and platforms of war and other objects. These will be used to represent the fleet, and the fleet will be used to represent the fleet, and the fleet will be used to represent the fleet.

will retain his own brightness and ability, and will be able to speak too highly of it. I cannot in the position of Mr. Bach's capacity in the best evidence of his character of the work he did is the fact that at the end of the month following the one in which Mr. Bach disappeared every premium upon every policy issued through him had been paid. The same held true on the following month. This is almost unprecedented in the insurance business.

A dispatch from New York says that John O. Bache, the missing financial manager of the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, has written a letter to Miss Nellie Sargent of West Forty-ninth Street, in which he said he was in Paris, and was about to sail for Marseilles. Miss Sargent is the young woman to whom Bache was said to have been engaged to be married. It is said she did not know that Bache had a wife and two children living.

David N. Holway, the Boston manager of the company, who worked hard to find the teacher after his disappearance, told a reporter for the Journal yesterday that he had heard nothing of the letter.

in the New York dispatch, referring to the source from which the news came, Mr. Holway said he would not like to give precedence to the story without it was verified by Miss Sargent herself, or the officers of the company in New York. He thought it was strange that if the story was true some of the New York officials had not got word of it and let him know. "Madagascar," said Mr. Holway, "is the best place on the face of the earth that a man would think of going to. He was a man of culture and refinement of the highest order. It is not at all improbable that he would seek out Paris. I can readily believe he has found his way there. Stephen Lyne, with whom Bache was on the

"I don't like to use intimate terms," said Mr. Baughman, "but I think how Bauche might hunt him up, and I will let you know." "I think the letter may only be another case to throw the people most interested in his behavior off the track. I do not believe he is on his way to Madagascar. The whole thing is ridiculous."

"As to word from Bauche has come to Mr. Baughman," said Dr. Boyle, "and I am afraid it was on the way away, who was on the most intimate terms with him, since Bauche went away, but was on Feb. 28 last. There is no doubt that Bauche came through Boston in the effort to trace him after that was finally without avail. Dr. Boyle, the medical examiner of the company who came to see him with Bauche, returned to New York had lost Bauche on the way, and could find nothing of his whereabouts."

When the man who said he was James Francis came on the scene. He said he had taken one of the officials of the company to Bahe. Mr. Brown sent Robert Ford of the Boston office with Francis. They went to Detroit and stopped overnight at a hotel with the understanding that Francis would take Ford to Bahe the morning. When Ford arose he found Francis gone. Francis left a note saying he would meet Ford at a little Canada-way station.

Conveniences in Small Quarters.

The matter of flats and apartments, considered in the abstract, resolves itself into the old, vexed question of serenity. "I have seen a prominent architect, in giving his views about apartment houses," says a person, "giving up apartment houses to any people are giving up apartment houses and going to live in apartment houses and apartments, simply because by so doing they avoid the cares of housekeeping and the constant attention with servants. The apartment proprietor declares that his guests are willing to pay for pretty apartments, so he allows too little margin for food, so he loses money. Be that as it may, the apartment hotels gain in popularity, even though the inmates do not get the service and attention they think their due and the proprietor does not get the rental he thinks is due. For my own part, I do not think that an apartment house is a possibility. It is not practicable to make a number of families entirely comfortable under one roof, and yet give to each all the air and sunlight and ventilation that they should have. Try as he may, the architect cannot leave the requisites for a many-dwelling apart from the owner demands a rental for his money; the tenants demand more and more conveniences each year, and so the matter goes."

"This mode of living in flats and apartments grew out of the desire to live showily on a moderate income. People fancied that by living in a flat they could enjoy luxuries and comforts not they could thus impress their neighbors with the belief that they were better off than they really were. The apartment house grew out of the flat idea, and the apartment hotel is the outcome of the apartment house. If the new law is put in operation, compelling an owner to build only on 65 per cent. of the lot, whereas he now builds on 75 per cent., it will put a damper on much of the flat-building greatly diminishing the returns."

The recently built apartment houses largely have seven rooms and bath in each suite, and the builder makes the rooms in each new house a trifle bigger by stealing some of the ventilating space from the narrow, open strip, or court, which runs up through the centre of a suite of apartments. New York features a many-storied building on the first floor in this way is bound to be fashioned in. There is no way of obtaining light, though the skillful architect, with so many problems to solve, puzzles his brain to contrive a window opening out of doors for each of his rooms, although that out-of-doors space may be only a few feet wide.

All the latest apartment houses of any pretensions have a single bit of paint about any of the framings of doors or windows or anywhere else in the structure. All the work is finished in the most artistic manner. The walls and ceilings are decorated in artistic style, the fireplaces and mantelpieces are artistically decorated and all the things are handsomely furnished. In a first-class private house more and more luxury obtains. Every suite has its butler's pantry and apartments, and gas ranges are put in. Instead of these heated with coal, "Materials have been cheaper within the last six months than a year, and in consequence tenants expect a $150 flat for $100." said a popular builder. "The prevailing financial depression cheapened the material, but labor has held its own, and for that reason the owner makes small profit; besides, additional conveniences are being introduced all the time, which greatly increase the expense, but without which the apartments would not be rented."

In the matter of refrigerators, for instance, the plan has been tried with cold air from the same source. There are three methods of doing this: first, by direct expansion of ammonia; second, by the circulation of salt brine; and third, by maintaining a vacuum. Notable for the purpose of plan is for the distribution of cold air from various large hotels in New York, but no method has been contrived to make them expedient for apartment houses. Even if the main engine is in charge of a competent person, the various by the individual servants of each family with whose refrigerator they connect. The average cook is entirely incapable of comprehending the importance of the refrigerator is 25 degrees on her, and the refrigerator is 25 degrees to one day and 55 the next, according to chance.

A few years ago an expensive plant of this kind was tried in a luxurious apartment house in Madison Avenue. The whole thing was out of order in less than a year. It would require one of controlling spirit to manage such a system of refrigerating without any interference. That it is so managed in hotels is the cause of a novel scheme at Atlantic City is trying a novel scheme for carrying cold air to cottages and hotels from one central source, just as gas is supplied, or water conducted into houses, said a visitor, who had been listening to the conversation. "They are laying the pipes through the streets now, and intend soon to have it in operation."

"I don't believe it will be found practical," said the architect. "There have been several companies of the kind started in New York. They were going to carry pipes through the streets, but I notice the plans failed."

"Well, it is being done in St. Louis, and some of the hotel men in Atlantic City went to see about it, and started operations on their practicality."

"I doubt its practicability," insisted the architect. Then he went on: "Each family should be considered so. Each family moves into an apartment house would prefer a fresh, clean refrigerator, one that had not been used by perhaps careless predecessors, or, at any rate, by people whose ways and habits were unknown to them. All these reasons multiplied together prevent the cold-storage. As it is, the individual refrigerators that are put in the best apartment houses are models of convenience and are admirably constructed."

The tenant demands the best of everything and the architect and his client put their heads together and in making specifications, they try to give the tenants a little more space, a shade more light and other house conveniences. The builder studies the tenant's wants and needs far more assiduously than his employer does, because he feels that his success lies in pleasing the tenant, so that his client's property may be sold easily. He also plans to save his employer as much outlay in the future as possible.

"Why not have that for the parlor?" asks the client when selecting different woods for the various rooms in his proposed apartment house. "That would do very nicely," answers the architect, "except that you would have to paint it all over every time a client went out, and so the selection of all the appointments and judgments depends on the experience and judgment of the architect. When the builder, by owner fortune and much study, hits on a good fortune and promises paying results on a plan which promises to himself until such keeps it religiously to himself until such time as his client may feel inclined to make his plans public."

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—The University of Pennsylvania, the institution that engineered the I. C. A. A. A. A. challenge to Oxford and Cambridge this summer, has track meeting in England for the inter-collegiate championship at Mott Haven as she seemed to have two weeks ago. Her two best men are Jarvis and Ramsdell. In last year Ramsdell won the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds, the 200 in 23.5 seconds, and the running broad jump. Jarvis, then a student at Wesleyan, ran the mile. Ramsdell looked to have this year, but now it turns out that neither is in training. Jarvis has left the training table because the Athletic Association has refused to pay his board. Why Ramsdell is not training and is enjoying the luxuries open to the non-Pennsylvania is not known. Without these men Pennsylvania has absolutely no chance to win a plurality of the events.

There seems to be a general rebellion at Pennsylvania. Just now Blair, left fielder on the nine, has stopped playing to pay his board, and it is known that some of the other men are dissatisfied. On the other hand, Yale is making double efforts to win. She knows she has no 100-yard dash men of her own that will compare with the Quaker sprinters, and the idea here is that she is training sprinters of other colleges that Pennsylvania may be knocked out of some points. Last year the final heat of some 100 resulted this way: Ramsdell, Pennsylvania, first; Patterson, Williams, second; Bucholtz, Pennsylvania, third; Jud, Pennsylvania, fourth. Yale has Patterson of Williams and Chatham of Columbia at New Haven, training at the Blues' expense, and under "Mike" Murphy, that they make the better fitted for an inroad into Quaker points.

As to form, the Californians who competed at Princeton Saturday were records what disappointing. From their championship they stood no show to win the championship at Berkeley team's calculations. From upset some other team's calculations they are not at the form displayed Saturday they are not at all dangerous, apparently having no first within their power, and only a chance for lesser prizes in hammer. In the 120-yard hurdle Dyer and Torrey are good chances, but they will hardly touch (Cham-

Carly and Bammonce their willingness to accept all bets on first, second or third time prizes in the road race Memorial Day. Gus Steele, Levee and Thompson of the Chicago Cycling Club go to Nashville, Tenn., tomorrow, to train for the Southern circuit. While training of DeCardy and the performance of Gardiner at Louisville.

Wheelmen who ride to their business will appreciate the accommodations furnished at the "Wheelmen's Bicycle Inn," recently opened at 12 Avenue C for the storage of 300 the accommodations in excellent restaurant, also smoking and reading rooms, and facilities for cleaning up after a dusty ride. The management extends a cordial invitation to cyclists to make the rooms their headquarters while in the city. The wheel room is easy of access from Washington and Tremont Streets, with no stairs to climb. The want of such a place has long been felt by hundreds of business men who ride to their work.

Members of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association will meet at the Christian Association on Wednesday evening next at 9 o'clock and form a bicycle club. They will have runs on Saturday afternoons, on holidays, and short runs during the summer evenings.

At St. George's Church picnic, to be held at Wayside Park, South Framingham, on May 30 (Memorial Day) the following class of bicycle races will be run under the management of the Wayside Park Club, viz.: One-mile novice, one-mile handicap, and two-mile handicap. Valuable prizes will be awarded for each event. For entry blanks apply to John H. Keyes, Saxonville, Mass. Entries close May 29.

The Waltham Bicycle Park will be opened in a few days, and a number of cracks are already on the road to train for the Memorial Day races. The fast Italian who rode so well in Class B last season, has joined the ranks of the crack riders, and will try his speed among the crack riders. He is now training at Louisville.

It is rumored that Fred Titus will be welcomed with a brass band when he arrives at Louisville. The rest of the Columbia team are now on their way East. They will train awhile in the York circuit, riding at take in the New York at the State meet. George Banker, Sunday, tried conclusions on the same track, and beat Bara and best foreign riders, in a 100-mile race.

Allan Jones, the Californian who startled the world by his recent performance in Class A, will go to City Cyclers' Track this week. He has arranged for excellent pace makers, and thinks that the record will be brought below 150.

The match between Houben and Protin has been definitely fixed for the 19th of May. He will run on the Brussels track. A. San Jose, Cal., Walter Foster went against all records, making a mile in 1.56. Smith and Clark on a tandem rode a mile in 2.00.

The new track at Manhattan Beach, it is expected, will be opened on June 15, and according to the promoters of the enterprise an additional $15,000 will be expended in new improvements.

BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

In the stock market the week has been a banner one, both in the volume of transactions and the strength of quotations. Two factors contributed to this end. One was the increased avidity with which London took hold of our stocks, and the other the more numerous presence of the public in the market. The week's developments have been favorable to confidence. Sterling rates are down to a point where possible gold imports are coming to be talked about. Crop conditions are encouraging.

General business is again more buoyant. There is an unmistakable and continuous improvement from week to week, not so rapid as to be feverish, but steady and wholesome. Last week's bank clearings were fully 25 per cent. greater than those of the corresponding week of May, 1894. Indeed, it is almost two years since they have been exceeded. April's returns of railroad earnings, too, make a favorable showing. One hundred and twelve roads, with a total mileage of 97,000, report total earnings for the month of $3,308,578, as compared with $2,827,302 for April of 1894. This is an increase of $1,476,374, or 4 1/2 per cent., and it is one of the most striking indications of reviving prosperity.

Shoes and leather are still steadily advancing, the one in sympathy with the other, but the increase of the price of the former consequent on the increased cost of production is at last beginning to tell on the trade, and sales are not quite so active in some quarters as they have been. Warm weather has stimulated the retail dry goods business in nearly all its branches, but manufacturing is somewhat less active, and the woolen interests are feeling the effects of the labor troubles very severely. It is a maladroitness which has set the working people to clamoring for increased wages before the factories, most of them, could really afford to grant them. It is a heavy handicap on a great industry fighting for its very life with foreign competition.

Wool, of course, is dull. Prices never ruled lower in the Boston market—which is not surprising, inasmuch as imports of foreign wools are six or seven times last year's figures. Meanwhile that immense foreign market which "tariff reform" was to bring has not materialized. Exports of American woolen fabrics are smaller than ever.

Business failures reported to Bradstreet's for the week were 224, as compared with 188 for the corresponding week a year ago. Of the concerns involved, no less than 87 per cent. had less than $5000 capital.

ONCE MORE THE SUBWAY.

Tomorrow the perfecting amendments of the Subway act, which have been recommended by the Committee on Metropolitan location, but they must grant a location from Boston straight through to Beverly, and yet there is nothing in the bill to require Mr. Boynton to build his road; he may build it or not, after he has obtained his charter.

There is one fatal defect in this bill. Not only is there an absolute failure of security for land damages to those whose land may be taken, or to abutters upon highways whose property may be injured, but this new corporation is authorized, without the decision of any tribunal, to take any land, fifty feet in width, it considers necessary for its own purposes. A railroad corporation must get the adjudication of the County Commissioners before it can take land; but not so Mr. Boynton; he alone has the determination of what land is to be confiscated. This one provision in the bill ought to defeat it.

There is no provision in this bill requiring the adjudication of any board as to the necessity of the new railroad. We are informed that there was no testimony before the committee in regard to the matter, and Mr. Boynton states that he is unwilling to trust the question to the Board of Railroad Commissioners, claiming that they are unfair and biased against him. But we have carefully read the full report of the hearing before the Railroad Commission upon the bill passed last year, and there is nothing in that to indicate that he has not received and will not receive absolutely fair treatment from the Railroad Commission; and our knowledge of the members of that commission is such that we know his strictures upon them are not warranted.

As stated by us on Thursday last, we believe the proper course for the Legislature to pursue is to kill the present bill and to allow Mr. Boynton to develop the value of his plant by proceeding under the charter which he received last year, which, in many respects, was more favorable than any charter ever granted to a steam railroad with like powers of eminent domain. We trust the Legislature will continue its good work of the present session by killing this bill.

CAN IT BE DONE?

We are not disposed to accept implicitly these current reports that the Navy Department is going to court-martial Admiral Meade for saying disrespectful things of the Administration. Such a summary proceeding against an able and distinguished officer in time of peace is probably without any precedent, and, if it were not, it would be well for the powers that be in Washington to pause and reflect before arraigning an American citizen of undisputed valor and loyalty for expressing sentiments which are shared by three-fourths of the American people.

Admitting that the Admiral's emphatic language was a technical breach of discipline, to attempt to call him to account for it before a naval tribunal would be an act of Memphis, and no people could very well have pushed unmarked up the valley of the Nile.

In these days of drouths and dust, when the streets are swept by clouds of flying particles of all natures, the thoughts and expressions of indignant humanity are directed toward the practical solution of the distressing situation. The use of seawater is not indulged in to any great extent, and the possibilities of its use more generally are not receiving the proper amount of consideration. A system of mains radiating from two pumping stations on either side of the city would be able to furnish an inexhaustible supply of water, that in the days of most severe drouth would be available, and a dry and dusty street would be the exception. The planting qualities of the water, but in the end, considering the health of the city primarily, and the comfort of man and beast, it would pay.

Mayor Curtis is fortunate in having a civic experiment station in his own family by the results of which he profits. His father builds streets successfully and economically with Boston labor. Mayor Curtis rightly thinks that Boston's streets can be made and kept by the same material.

Postmaster Sullivan of Brooklyn has issued an order, "For the good of the service," apparently, to the end that the postmen when meeting a superior official on the street must recognize him by the usual military salute. Will other Postmasters in the country follow this military example?

Secretary Gresham has suffered in the past two years disappointment and chagrin enough to kill many a stronger man. The American people, who have not forgotten his services in the field and on the Bench, will rejoice that he is at last recovering from his dangerous illness.

Yale men figure that they will get 73 points and Harvard 38 in the games next Saturday. Harvard men think Yale will make 68 while they are likely to make but 54. The modest side is less difficult to select than the victorious side.

Admiral Meade seems to have had a real and rare independence of character. That is something, apparently, which the sham "independent" press and politicians cannot forgive. His genuineness shames their humbug.

Next time Mr. Addicks bargains for a Senatorship he had better negotiate with Democrats. They seem to "silly bought;" the secret probably is that they are more impervious to popular opinion.

Business reviving? Of course it is. What else did the country bargain for when it declared last fall that it wanted an end of "tariff reform" and a return to protection?

About the Offence of Which He Has Been Accused.

Some of the Obstacles in the Way of Convicting Him.

Treasury Seems to Think New Bond Issue Not Necessary.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Washington, May 12.—It is assumed by many naval officers that Admiral Meade will be court-martialled for the recent interview in which he criticised the Administration. Newspapers which are aggressive against Admiral Meade say that he will certainly be ordered before a court-martial unless he disavow the statements attributed to him in the interview, and that he has been called upon to state whether he expressed the opinions assigned to him. The ground upon which this proceeding of the Navy Department is to be based (if such action be taken) is formulated upon a regulation of the Navy Department, which is as follows:

"Officers of the navy are forbidden to publish or cause to be published, directly or indirectly, or to communicate by interview or private letter, or otherwise, except as required by their official duties any information in regard to the foreign policy of the United States, or concerning the acts or measures of any department of the Government, or of any officer acting thereunder, or any comments or criticism thereon, or to furnish copies of the same to any person without permission of the department."

Power of a Court-Martial.

The statement of the self-confessed organs of the department that Admiral Meade must be ordered before a court-martial for trial unless he distinctly disavow the language of the alleged interview is an expression of a zealous advocate; but it is a statement which is not founded upon good sense or good law. The authorities of the Navy Department, under all Administrations, are very apt to assume supreme powers in the way of discipline over naval officers, and at times have claimed that they have authority over civilians.

But the power of an army or naval court-martial is not so supreme as the marines would like to have it, even over army and naval officers; while these military tribunals, in times of peace, certainly have no power whatever over civilians, except in cases where civilians may voluntarily submit themselves to the jurisdiction of these tribunals. Moreover, the Navy Department has no such power over Admiral Meade as is implied in the statement that he must be ordered before a court-martial, unless he deny that he made the statements in the alleged interview; or, as arranged Admiral Meade says, "shall prove that he is not responsible for the interview."

It happens that Admiral Meade is an American citizen, as well as naval officer. He could not be a naval officer unless he had the quality of citizenship. He did not surrender any rights of a citizen when he took his oath as a naval officer. As such officer in fact, he has sworn to defend the Constitution of the United States, and it happens that, in Admiral Meade's case, after having sworn to defend the Constitution of the United States, he did not take the Union which he had sworn to protect, and did default. This cannot be said of all who now accuse him.

Removal Rights Guaranteed.

"Those are near three sheets," remarked a young man in one of the rear seats in a Harvard Square car the other afternoon as it passed the big bill board on Cambridge Street.

"What's that 'Trilby' left town yet?" exclaimed a rather tough young man. "I seed it at der Park."

"Taint much good is it?" "Fah, but I taught dat only one act was 'hot stuff.' Dats der third."

"What is it like?" "It's where dat feller Den Garley mesmerizes 'Trilby' and makes her sing 'Been Broke,' or some ting like dat. Dat 'Der Maw Best Hay' is a clever board left the car and the tough young man lit a cigarette and beamed upon those about him, with a superior smile.

And I thought I would get de use of two or three lots, an' have some good Christians gimme the seed petters an' enough money to hire a man to plant them."

TROUBLE IN THE SANCTUM.

"Speaking of Noah," said the exchange editor. "Who's speaking of Noah?" interrupted the financial editor. "If he owed anybody for work on the ark," resumed the other, ignoring the query, "his debts must have been liquidated when the rain came."

Power of a Court-Martial.

"That doesn't follow at all," retorted the financial editor. "He may have had a large floating indebtedness."

"If you knew anything about finances you would know he could settle all that by watering his stock."

"Coming from you that's sheer nonsense. If he could have exhibited his animals wouldn't he have had a bonanza?"

"No," the bonanza came with a later flood. "That isn't fair!" "He had plenty of provisions, anyhow. He had Ham and—"

"What do you Noah bout?" "Water you trying to say, anyway?" "Ark!" hastily spoke up the index editor. "I hear somebody coming!" "I denude, gentlemen," exclaimed the rally editor, bustling in, "you've said enough forty-day!" And the assembly broke up in confusion.

NO NEW JOKES.

Last year some enterprising person got up what he thought was a new and clever joke about Congress. He issued a little book, bound in green paper, bearing the title, "What Congress Has Done." Inside were some ten or twenty blank pages, the idea being that Congress had wasted its time and done nothing. Every one laughed at it.

German Joy at Death of Anti-Revolution Bill.

Discontent in Hungary at Political Outlook.

Berlin, May 12.—The Government is greatly satisfied with the success of the pressure brought to bear upon Japan to prevent annexation of territory on the Lalo-Tung peninsula.

The official press is eloquent upon the removal of the serious anxieties that would have arisen in regard to the peaceful development of the East, but it is no secret that the chief joy is in having, as it is believed, materially improved the relations of Germany with Russia, while neutralizing the effect that France's support might have had in strengthening her bonds with Russia.

It is reported that Germany will acquire from Japan a coaling station on the island of Formosa for her ships of war.

The news of the settlement of the question that had arisen under the treaty of Shimonoseki imparted marked brightness at the Bourse, where reports were circulated that a new Russian loan would be issued through the discount Geschacht. It is more likely, however, that the next loan that will occupy the attention of financiers will be to negotiate in order to pay her indemnity to Japan and, for other purposes. It is stated in some quarters that this loan will be larger than any yet floated by any country at any one time, the figure being placed at $3,600,000,000 marks ($500,000,000).

Berlin, May 12.—The Kreuz Zeitung violently attacks annexation of Tongaland, Southeast Africa, as perfidy on the part of Great Britain toward the South African Republic (the Transvaal), and says it is delighted to hear that the South African Republic has appealed to the Great Powers, including Germany, to prevent Great Britain from taking possession of Tongaland. The ownership of this territory is of great importance to the South African Republic, as it borders on the Indian Ocean, and is the shortest route from the Transvaal to the sea. The Kreuz Zeitung says it hopes Germany will interfere to prevent Great Britain from carrying into effect her plans in this part of Africa.

DEATH KEPT SECRET.

Fatal Burning Accident in Roxbury Saturday.

Mrs. Ada Howard's Clothing Caught From Stove.

Husband and Brother of Deceased Refuse All Information.

A fatal burning accident occurred in Roxbury on Saturday, which only came to light at a late hour last night, the relatives of the victim even then refusing to give out the particulars of the affair.

The victim of the fatality was Mrs. Ada Howard, 55 years of age, residing at No. 68 Clifton Street. It seems that while starting a fire in the kitchen range, about 7 o'clock Saturday morning, Mrs. Howard's clothing became ignited in some unaccountable manner, and before the flames were extinguished she was fatally burned about the arms, hips and back.

The house is a double one, and Mrs. Howard's agonized screams were heard by Mr. W. W. Darling, who lives in the adjoining portion of the dwelling. Mr. Darling rushed to the suffering woman's assistance in his bare feet, and before he had succeded in extinguishing the blazing garments, which he did by tramping the flames beneath his feet, he was also severely burned.

Dr. Starbird was called to attend to the injured ones, but all he could do to alleviate Mrs. Howard's sufferings was of avail, and she died at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Mr. Darling's injuries, although severe and painful, were not dangerous, and he will be able to return to his business, that of a butter merchant on South Market Street, in a few days.

For some reason or other neither Mrs. Howard's husband, J. T. Howard, a boss painter doing business in South Boston, nor her son, Frank Howard, made no report of the accident to the authorities, and when an officer of Division 9 called at the house last evening he was refused the particulars of the affair, and received his information from Mr. Darling.

Medical Examiner Draper had not been notified of the fatality up to 1 o'clock this morning, but his attention will be called to the case by the police today.

OBSTACLE TO CONFEDERATION.

Newfoundland's Debt Is $15,000,000 and Canada Is Willing to Assume but Two-thirds.

Executive held two Cabinet meetings today. The situation in respect of confederation with Canada is not as satisfactory as it might be. The debt of Newfoundland is $15,000,000, and this is a formidable obstacle to the union. Canada's debt is only $600,000 per capita. She is willing to assume $10,000,000 of Newfoundland's debt, which would represent the same proportion of her per capita indebtedness. There is slight likelihood of the Imperial Government assuming the remaining $5,000,000.

It is reported that the Government is trying to negotiate another loan to help meet the claims of the savings banks depositors, and it is said that this is partly the object of Mr. Bond's mission to Ottawa.

The Government is preparing to introduce a stringent retrenchment measure at Thursday's meeting of the Legislature. It also promises to present a report of the confederation negotiations with Canada.

TO EXTEND ITS BONDS.

Central Pacific Bond Looking After Its $2,995,000 Maturing Mortgage.

New York, May 13.—The Central Pacific Railroad Company has made arrangements to extend for 2½ years, from July 1 next, its $2,995,000 first mortgage gold bonds maturing on that date. The extension is to be at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, but the company reserves the right to redeem the bonds at any time before the expiration of the extension, paying 6 per cent. interest. Holders who desire to avail themselves of the extension, must deposit their bonds on or before June 1 with Speyer & Co. of this city, or with their correspondents at London, Frankfurt and Amsterdam. The extension is made to the date of maturity of the latest maturing first mortgage bonds of the company, on or before which date it portion of the foreigners' surplus funds are being employed in investment and speculative transactions on the New York Stock Exchange. Little information has been published concerning the big speculative movement in South African mining shares. The following are some facts concerning it, which were prepared by Attorney Olcott:

"The recent buying on London and Continental account has been simply immense, and the end is not yet. Many of the operators who have made fabulous sums of money in the Kafir speculation have bought heavily of American securities late, partly for investment and partly to sell out again when the advance has been sufficiently ample to suit them. After the huge profits made in the African mine speculations they are not likely to realize on their American investments without getting similarly compensated."

"If we only settle for a section of South Africa where the diamond and gold mines have since been discovered. The Dutch had previously settled there, after the same fashion as they did originally in New York, when they called it New Amsterdam."

"About 20 Dutch farmers occupied all this section of the country, whose occupation was raising cattle. The mining excitement has drawn a white population of 60,000 and 40,000 blacks since August, 1886. Within a few years most of these lands were sold at £1 an acre, and a large part of them as low as 6d an acre. The mines established on this property have been stocked at £120,000,000, and most of them are selling at an immense premium. For instance, the Rand Mines were issued at £1 a share, and they are now worth £100 a share. The output of gold is now 181,000 ounces per month, and with the new batteries and appliances now being erected and nearly completed it is confidently expected that the product will reach 200,000 ounces per month. Silver is found in this country unprofitable as compared with gold."

"The men who have profited by this Kafir speculation more than any others are Cecil Rhodes, Alfred Beit, Barnato Bros., J. B. Robinson, Eckstein Bros., Henry Nourse, Piet Maravos, F. A. English, S. Neumann & Co., and A. Goetz & Co., some of whom are now living in London in princely style. The Barnatos originally went to that country as circus jugglers. They are supposed to have made out of their ventures, principally in diamond mines, £5,000,000. Robinson is put down at £7,000,000. Beit at £12,000,000. Rhodes at about £7,000,000. Nourse at £2,500,000. Piet Maravos at £2,000,000, and F. A. English at £5,000,000."

RED HOT HEARING BEFORE BEVERLY COMMON COUNCIL WITH REGARD TO IT.

That flag staff in the square at Beverly Farms was the subject of a red-hot debate at the hearing before the Beverly Common Council last night. The Committee on Public Property opposed it on recommendation of Chief Engineer Levi K. Goodhue of the fire department, and the Aldermen gave the petitioners leave to withdraw, but the Common Council decided to give this hearing before taking action. All that appeared on the subject was that there was a hydrant close to where they wanted to place the flag staff, and the chief claimed that he wanted 25 feet all round it for the engines to work. Councilman Tront, John H. Watson, Stephen Connolly, Charles Plakett, Superintendent of the Water Works, John Eaton, Harvey Hodgkins, Thomas Connolly, Postmaster Lawrence Watson, and Benjamin Webber, all spoke in favor of the flag staff. A telegram from O'Brien Bros. of Boston, large property holders in the vicinity, was read in favor of the flag staff, and a new petition with 60 names was presented. Dr. N. P. Allen created a little sensation by saying that his grandfather was a Bunker Hill soldier, and there were few descendants of American soldiers who had petitioned for this flag. He said there were 125 men at the Farms who had not signed the new petition, nor would they be allowed to do so. He favored the flag staff under certain conditions. He said there were 100 men at the Farms who could not get into the Business Men's Club there because they were A. P. A's. The council took the matter under consideration. The chamber was packed by interested spectators.

SEVERE CHARGE.

President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Shares and Much Money Without Consideration.

Duluth, Minn., May 13.—President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway has made a sensational deposition in the suit of the Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposit Company v. the Duluth and Winnipeg Railway to foreclose a $3,000,000 mortgage. Denying charges of certain stockholders that he wanted to intervene on the ground of fraud, President Van Horne says that in 1881 C. K. Davis, R. C. Mitchell, A. M. Miller, W. W. Spalding, John C. Hunter, M. Peyton and A. J. Sawyer received nearly 1500 shares of stock and $150,000 without consideration.

Chicago, May 13.—A prominent official of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Road states that there is no foundation for the report which announced that A. A. Robinson was to be made President of that road. "There is no organization," he said, "to elect a President, and it is not likely that a new organization will be formed until the end of the year. The road is still in the hands of the receivers, and as to the foreign bondholders they are in perfect accord with the present arrangement."

Sunday Golf Playing Case Not Likely to Be Heard From Again.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Hempstead, L. I., May 13.—It is now stated that the charges preferred by Deputy Sheriff Smith against James Kernochan and Sidney Dillon Ripley, the two members of the Meadowbrook Club, for playing golf on Sunday in violation of the law, will not come up for trial before Judge Seaman at this place. It was first thought that the trial of the two men would take place at the end of this week, and that the remaining warrants on the same charges against Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Charles Hone, Albert D. Lamed, Frank Hitchcock, Charles Albert Stevens, William C. Chandler, E. N. Chubb and W. E. Willard Roby, members of the club, would be served, and that all the cases would be disposed of at the same time. Now, however, it is stated that the warrants that have not yet been served will not be executed, and that the Deputy Sheriff wants to let the case drop.

Slavin has challenged Corbett to box in March next for $5000 a side.

FIGHTING STREET RAILWAY CO.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Springfield, Mass., May 13.—The citizens of West Springfield have begun a fight against the Springfield Street Railway Company, which is trying to run a track through Public Park. An injunction was served on the company this morning. There is intense feeling on both sides.

COLORED MAN STABBED.

Frank A. Homer, colored laborer, aged 29 years, residing at 180 Division Street, Chelsea, was stabbed, he says, by another colored man, named James B. Gordon, near the corner of Fourth and Arlington Streets about 8.30 last night.

Free Wool Provision.

The recent figures which the Treasury Department has made public as to operations of the new tariff demonstrates the fact that the free traders were wrong in their claim as to the effect of the free wool provision of the new law. The price of wool has decreased rather than increased, shoddy is replacing wool, and clothing is poorer in quality. It was the claim of the free traders that if wool were put on the free list it would increase in value because of the greater demand that would be created for American wool to mix with those of foreign production. That this was a misstatement was patent to any fair-minded person. The free traders did not expect wool to increase in value because if they did woolen cloths would be dearer, instead of cheaper.

The new tariff law has been in effect long enough to test the truth of those free trade assertions about wool. It largely decreased in price soon after the Cleveland Administration came into power, because it was then clear that wool would be put on the free list. But it has kept right on going down, notwithstanding the low price reached before the tariff bill became a law. Ohio needs, according to the figures of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, 100,000 pounds of wool in the first week of May of last year, and even less now. When the new tariff act passed the price was 21 cents and now it is 10, showing a decline of 11 cents a pound in eight months under the new law.

It Is Shoddy's Hour.

Another thing in the wool tariff will be kept from publicity as much as possible by the men who passed the existing law on the subject. The cry was sent up all over the country that putting wool on the free list would give the people better clothing and stop the use of "shoddy." The Treasury statistics give an interesting lesson on that subject. Under the McKinley act only 1504 pounds of shoddy and waste were imported in March of last year. In the same month this year 2,115,666 pounds were imported, showing a gain of 1407.68 per cent. In the imports of shoddy and waste under the new law, for the nine months ending March 31, 1894, the imports were 75,923 pounds, while for the eight months ending the same time under the new law the imports were 9,713,187 pounds. The new law is keeping out shoddy by increasing its importation 1407.68 per cent. Such imports of shoddy were never before known in the history of the country.

Interference About Meade.

The first rebuke to Admiral Meade was the refusal of the department to retire him immediately as requested. The President is not compelled to retire an officer on request, and there are many who believe Mr. Cleveland will retain the Admiral on the active list, and keep him on waiting orders. Both the request for retirement and for leave of absence will be unacted on until there is a settlement of the question affecting the Admiral now pending. The Administration, who some friends do not to be called friends of Admiral Meade, suggest that the problem has been solved, not by getting Admiral Meade before a court martial, but by sending him to the West Indies.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Washington, May 13.—Miss Dodge (Gail Hamilton) is reported to be not so well this morning. It is difficult to obtain accurate information as to her condition. The latest statement is that the attending physician has made it that he hopes that she will recover. Dr. Johnson seems to have been requested not to make public the condition of his patient. It is denied, however, that Miss Dodge has had a stroke of paralysis. She was greatly overcome by the heat and was exhausted by overwork when she reached here. It is understood that Miss Dodge, who is in a sense the literary executor of the late James G. Blaine, has been exceedingly anxious to complete his biography at the earliest practicable moment, and that in the endeavor to accomplish this she has overtaxed her strength. WEBB.

IT NEVER DID RUN SMOOTH.

Luigi Sorensting is 20 years old, and of a romantic disposition, and lives in that Italian bower of beauty, otherwise known as Endicott Street, in the North End. Because the addresses of a friend of his, paid to a dark Italian damsel, who dwells on Prince Street, were rejected, and because Antonio Dilluca's suit prospered, Luigi Sorensting buckled on his armor, and taking a huge revolver, sallied forth to make a portus plaster of Dilluca. But Patrolman Lomb heard of it, and he just took away the pistol and locked up the romantic young man.

HUNTINGTON ON THE CANAL.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) New York, May 13.—A report was current on Wall Street yesterday to the effect that C. P. Huntington, who had been opposed to the Nicaragua Canal, had become a supporter of the project. Mr. Huntington was seen in his office in the Mills Building and said: "I have never been opposed to the building of the Nicaragua Canal, although I do not believe it will be a good thing for the country. However, if the people really wish, to build it, I certainly have no objection."

he said, created surprise among Venezuelan officials, who were aware of the pacific nature of his visit, and did not appreciate the attempt thus to impose on their country. The result, said Mr. Haseltin, was that Admiral Meade was much piqued, and out of this condition, Mr. Haseltin thinks, grew the determination of the Admiral to make the charges against him of drunkenness, etc. Mr. Smalley was seen this afternoon by a reporter, to whom he expressed his disbelief in the truth of the charges preferred against Minister Haseltin, and said: "He has been Prosecuting Attorney for his country, member of the Legislature and three times elected Mayor of Burlington. He is one of the most popular men in the State, and until he went to Venezuela I never heard of him as conducting himself in any other way than as an upright, sober man."

NOT ALL HIS FANCY PICTURED.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) New York, May 13.—That the outlook for the future of the Garrick Theatre is not so alluring as it appeared at first was made evident this afternoon when Richard Mansfield announced through a general interview that his season would end in two weeks, and "The King of Lemn" would be withdrawn. The future of the theatre, carried out as originally it was Mr. Mansfield's intention that it should be, as his home and the home of the high order of drama, depended solely on whether there were enough people in New York to support Mr. Mansfield in his venture. The test to which the venture was put has plainly shown that there are not enough of such people, or at least at this season of the year. For the present, however, Mr. Mansfield is forced to withdraw the drama of high order, and in its place he will offer a burlesque on May 21. It will be entitled "Thrilly," and will genuinely burlesque the late book by Du Maurier. Whether for the next season the plans for the Garrick will be changed so as to permit Mr. Mansfield's remaining at his theatre will, of course, depend on his ability to attract the audiences.

TO BE SEVEN MILES NEARER BOSTON

Marbora, Mass., May 13.—A plan for a railroad from this city to South Sudbury is being advocated here by H. A. Hancock, Louis Mayneville, William H. Ireland and D. W. Archibald. It is to be seven miles long, running through Marbora and Sudbury territory, past the Wayside Inn and connecting with the Boston and Maine (Central Massachusetts) and New York (Framingham) at South Sudbury. It will, if constructed, bring this city seven miles nearer Boston than the terminal here at the corner of Church and Hildreth Streets. The plan is to have the railroad in the rear of the Marbora Hospital. Petitions to the Railroad Commissioners are being extensively signed.

OLD RESIDENT OF OF WINTHROP.

David Floyd, who died at Winthrop on the 13th inst., was one of the nine children of David and Hannah Floyd, and was born in that part of the old town of North Chelsea, now known as Revere, in January, 1807. He moved to Chelsea Point (now Winthrop) in 1825. For many years he lived in the old home of Deane Winthrop and cultivated the Winthrop farm, then consisting of about 200 acres of land, until it was sold to the city of Boston. His own farm, lying near Ocean Spray, has, in recent years, been sold in cottage lots. Mr. Floyd was always a farmer, but found time to serve Winthrop as well as Chelsea and North Chelsea as Selectman, School Committee member, and in other positions. For many years he was a deacon in the Revere Congregational Church. He married Sally T. Tewksbury, who died in 1883. He leaves seven sons—Lucius, H. Otis, P. Payson, D. Albert, B. Tappan, Ephraim B. and W. Frank, and one daughter, Mrs. Edwin F. Dunham.

His Children Statement About Them From the Little Wanderers' Home.

With a view to learning the facts in regard to the Westworth children, who claim that they ran away from the Little Wanderers' Home on West Newton Street because they did not get enough to eat and because they were horsewhipped nights, a Journal reporter called on Monday upon Rev. U. A. Cooper, D. D., Superintendent of the Home. Dr. Cooper had not read the story in a morning paper, and upon hearing it read he gave a little chuckle at the absurdity of the charges and proceeded to state what he knew of the children.

"There was no abandonment about it," said Dr. Cooper. "Now, if you will come with me we will see what these poor little starved children have to say about their treatment." And leading the way into one of the schoolrooms, where perhaps 50 extremely hearty looking children were studying, Dr. Cooper said: "How many of you children have enough to eat?" With eager unanimity and with a satisfied smile of content every little hand was raised. The children live exactly the same as does Dr. Cooper himself.

"In regard to the whipping," said he, "it is not once in six months that a child has to be punished in this way, and when it is comes necessary, no one of the teachers is allowed to do it. In my hands alone rests this power. As the kind, fatherly gentleman said this, he surely did not look like one who would punish unnecessarily. The father of the two boys, Eugene Wentworth, is at work in Lawrence. He has written several times to inquire after their welfare, and has offered, now that he has time, to pay for their clothes and care. This Dr. Cooper refused to allow.

EVER READY WEAPON.

Guinepe Daneride Was Going to Shoot Another Fruit Peddler When Arrested. Guinepe Daneride and Sabini Rizzo are Italian fruit dealers between whom there has for some time been considerable rivalry. Yesterday afternoon they were about the markets purchasing fruit, and met in front of a store on South Market Street. Here they saw a particularly nice lot of bananas, which both wanted. After some little competition Rizzo offered a better price for the fruit than Daneride was willing to pay, and got the prize. Daneride, enraged, drew a big, wicked-looking revolver with the avowed intention of shooting Rizzo. In a moment the crowd which had gathered about the two fruit buyers scattered to near-by stores and doorways.

Patrolman Allen of Division 1 turned a corner just in time to see what was up. He made a jump for the excited Italian and had him under arrest before he had time to discharge his pistol. He was quickly disarmed and taken to Station 1, where he was booked upon the charge of assault with a loaded revolver. Daneride is 35 years old, and lives at 175 North Street.

Gov. Turney was hanged in effigy at Erwin, the county seat of Union county, Tenn., on Saturday. The recent investigating committee threw out 10 or 12 districts in that county, three-fourths of the votes of the county being for Evans, the Republican candidate for Governor, who was counted out.

MRS. JONES'S GUARDIAN.

Guardianship Case in Probate Court Involving Question of Marriage and $125,000.

Judge Grant, in the small Probate Court room Monday, opened a hearing on the petition brought by Stephen R. Jones and his wife, Mrs. Georgianna Jones, for a removal of Hon. E. J. Jenkins as guardian of Mrs. Jones, on the ground that he is an unsuitable person. Several months ago Mr. Jenkins was appointed guardian of Mrs. Jones, she being adjudged an insane person. She was a lady of considerable property not many years ago, and at present there is $125,000 held in trust for her by a Mr. Richards, out of which she receives the income.

In addition to the ground of alleged unsuitableness on the part of Mr. Jenkins, the husband, Mr. Jones, alleges that of the petition brought for the appointment of Mr. Jenkins as guardian of his wife, he had no formal notice, and the petition did not set out the fact that his wife was a married woman.

Upon this score, however, the validity of the marriage between Mr. and Mrs. Jones is questioned, and at present there is pending in the Superior Court a petition purporting to be brought by her seeking the annulment of their marriage.

TO ORDER A GREAT STRIKE.

Convention of Coal Miners Called at Pittsburgh, Pa., May 13.—District President Cairns of the United Mine Workers' Union last night issued a call for a delegate convention of miners on Wednesday to vote on a proposition to call a national convention that will consider ordering out every union miner in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois and Indiana. It is asserted that the operators who are paying $9 a day are helping the others who are not, and it is proposed to close down every mine until all the operators agree to the demands. Camps will be established near the mines. Miners will be evicted near the camps. Miners and every effort made to bring out the men. The convention will likely declare for a general strike in the hope of improving the situation here.

CHARLESTON DISABLED.

A New Cast Steel Piston Ordered From San Francisco.

Washington, May 13.—Admiral Carpenter cabled the Navy Department this morning that the cruiser Charleston was disabled at Nagasaki, having broken her port low pressure cylinder. The Charleston has been there from Nagasaki since May 5, having gone there from the Foo for coal. Telegraphic orders were immediately dispatched to the Union Iron Works in San Francisco, where the vessel was built and where the patterns for her machinery still remain, directing that a cast steel piston be made and forwarded to Japan as quickly as possible. It is estimated that it can be shipped within ten days and should reach the ship early in June.

SWEEP AT PRATT CITY, ALA.

Hotel, City Hall, Church and 61 Dwellings Burned.

Birmingham, Ala., May 13.—Fire broke out this afternoon in a dwelling house at Pratt City, and, with a strong gale blowing, soon spread, until 41 dwellings, the hotel, City Hall and Northern Methodist Church were sent from here to the scene, but water was hard to get, and the apparatus was of little service. Finally, to prevent the entire town from being destroyed, several houses were blown up with dynamite. The loss is $50,000. Chief Mullins of the Birmingham Fire Department was injured, but not seriously. Mrs. C. J. Bonner died of fright.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BOYS.

FINLEY'S MILLS BURNED.

Two Alarms for a Late Fire at Newton Lower Falls.

At 2:15 o'clock Monday morning fire broke out in Finley's Mills, Newton Lower Falls. The main structure was saved.

The fire started on the lower floor. It was caused by the overturning of a lamp. It spread rapidly on account of the inflammable nature of the surroundings, and before it was extinguished it had practically gutted that part of the mill in which it originated. The firemen were, however, able to head it off before it got into the main buildings.

The building is owned by the Finley Paper Mill Corporation. The loss of $4000 is partially covered by insurance.

The mill is situated on the bank of the Charles River and is operated by power from the stream. The fire will only temporarily embarrass the help, and rebuilding operations will probably be begun at once.

DESTRUCTIVE WORK OF FROST IN CHAUTAUCUQ GRAPE BELT.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 13.—Frost ruined the entire grape crop of the Chautauque, grape belt. The loss is at least one and one-half million dollars. That figures the value of last year's crop, and by reason of new acreage coming into bearing the crop this year would have been much larger.

The Chautauque grape belt extends from Erie county through westward to Erie. It occupies a strip from five to eight miles in width along the southern shores of Lake Erie.

The number of acres bearing grapes last year was 36,000. This year 35,000 acres would have been bearing were it not for the frost. The vines were loaded down with blossom buds last evening. Today from one end of the belt to the other the vineyards had the appearance of having been visited by 25 degrees.

At Gerry Richman, the millionaire grape grower and wine manufacturer, says the loss in the belt will reach at least $2,000,000. His own loss he estimates at $250,000.

At Fredonia nothing of the grape crop can be saved. Had fire gone through the vineyards it could not have been more thorough in its effects.

AS IF BY FIRE.

Destructive Work of Frost in Chautauque Grape Belt.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 13.—Frost ruined the entire grape crop of the Chautauque, grape belt. The loss is at least one and one-half million dollars. That figures the value of last year's crop, and by reason of new acreage coming into bearing the crop this year would have been much larger.

The Chautauque grape belt extends from Erie county through westward to Erie. It occupies a strip from five to eight miles in width along the southern shores of Lake Erie.

The number of acres bearing grapes last year was 36,000. This year 35,000 acres would have been bearing were it not for the frost. The vines were loaded down with blossom buds last evening. Today from one end of the belt to the other the vineyards had the appearance of having been visited by 25 degrees.

At Gerry Richman, the millionaire grape grower and wine manufacturer, says the loss in the belt will reach at least $2,000,000. His own loss he estimates at $250,000.

At Fredonia nothing of the grape crop can be saved. Had fire gone through the vineyards it could not have been more thorough in its effects.

CLAD TIDINGS WRECKED.

Arrival of Her Passengers at Victoria, B. C.

Victoria, B. C., May 13.—The steamer Danube arrived at this port last night. She had on board the passengers of the missionary steamer Glad Tidings, which left Port Townsend two weeks ago with 10 delegates to the Methodist Conference now in session here. The Glad Tidings was pierced by a rock and partly disabled.

MRS. MASON'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Fanny Powell Mason, who died at her home in Brookline last week, was held Monday at noon from the Emmanuel Church on Newbury Street, Boston. Rev. Leighton Parks, the rector of the church, conducted the services, which were private, except to friends and relatives. The burial was at Mt. Auburn.

SENSATIONAL RUMORS AFLOAT.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 13.—There is a movement on foot for a legislative investigation of the transaction by which 4,000,000 acres of Florida land were transferred to Hamilton Disston of Philadelphia. W. D. Bleckham, who is now Comptroller, was Governor at the time the land was transferred, and there are sensational rumors afloat relative to the matter.

LOST MONEY BY MOODY MERRILL.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.)

Newburyport, Mass., May 13.—Two aged ladies allied last night—Mrs. Sarah P. Boardman, aged 88 years, and Mrs. A. Horton, aged 88 years, both were very highly respected in the community. Mrs. Boardman's money had been taken by Mrs. Horton, who had been taken by Mrs. Boardman's money.

TWO UNCOMMON WOMEN.

Florence Marryat gives us as the heroine of her story, entitled "The Beautiful Soul," a woman whom it is hard to picture among the common walks of men. Felicia Heberington was not handsome, which is no uncommon thing, but she was charitable, patient, and forgiving to a degree that would surely warrant her being called "the beautiful soul." If it did not remove her entirely for any human category, though she is not a common character, the reading of her good deeds may inspire others to follow her example.

"Corona of the Nautchahals," is another character most decidedly out of the common run. She is the daughter of a good family, who, in her infancy, is taken by an insane kidnapper high up the mountains to be put to death, and in the nick of time is rescued by a hardy mountaineer. She is brought up on Grecian history, drama and tragedy, and imagines that she is living in the golden age of ancient Greece. In her early womanhood she meets men from the large centres of population who happen to stray up the mountain side, and becomes acquainted with actual nineteenth century life. The story, though highly improbable, is told in an interesting way, and will please those readers who delight in what is romantic.

A NAPOLEONIC NOVEL.

The Merrimac Company has published Mary J. Safford's translation of "The Romance of the Sword," by Georges Duval. The story is an exceptionally strong one, and will prove interesting from a romantic as well as an historical point of view. The great Napoleon figures on these pages, and is presented in the conventional light. The story ends with Napoleon's coronation as Emperor.

A CHAIR TO PASTOR FLINT.

His friends unite to give him a reception and remembrance. Rev. George Flint, the assistant pastor of the Phillips Church, South Boston, was last night given a complimentary reception at the cozy house of N. M. Paul, 739 East Broadway, by the members of his congregation and friends. Seventy-five ladies and gentlemen attended and made a very gay and happy party.

First, everybody joined in singing, and then Mr. Koeltzou, after making a felicitious little speech, presented Mr. Flint with a splendid easy chair, upholstered in garnet plush, on behalf of the assembled company, with their best wishes. Mr. Flint modestly accepted the gift.

Then came reading by Miss Anna Snell, and piano solos and songs by the musical ones of the party, until 8:30 o'clock, when lunch was served.

Among those present were Mr. J. P. Rice and Miss Louise Rice of Boston, Miss Anna Snell, Mr. W. H. Temple, Mr. George F. Everett, Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lawley, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lawley, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lawley, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lawley, Miss Helen Clark, Miss Sarah Sampson and many others.

EVIDENCE IN GILL WILL CASE IN-

In the Supreme Court, yesterday, before Judge Morton, the taking of evidence in the contest over the will of Howard Gill, late of Dedham, was closed. Elisha Greenwood, counsel for the contestants, made the closing argument for that side. This morning the Court will make the closing argument for the contestants.

MADE HIM HAPPY.

An old chap who had come down from Twenty-third Street with me and got off at the City Hall, had talked all the way down about the New York police, and what a fine body of men they were. As we crossed the park we encountered a patrolman, and the old man halted him and said: "Say! I want you to do me a great favor. If you will I'll never forget it."

"What is it?" asked the officer.

"I want to shake hands with you. I live up at Camden, Oneida county. We've got one policeman for the hull town, and he thinks he owns the earth. I tried to teach him with a 10-foot pole the other day and he kicked like a steer. Say! Lemme shake hands with you, and then you pat me on the back. When I get back home I want to tell him about it. I want to make him feel that he isn't half as big as he thought he was."

The officer looked at me and winked. He understood the case and was willing to help the old man out. He shook hands, slapped him on the back and poked him in the ribs with a "cluck," and when he had finished the man from Oneida county, feelingly said:

"By gum! but I won't forget you if I live to be a thousand years old! When I go home and tell Jim McCarty that a New York policeman wasn't afraid to get right down and hev fun with me afore all the folks he'll be so infernally jealous and feel so mighty mean that he'll want to stand on his head in a mud-puddle!"—Detroit Free Press.

HER LAWYER SISTER IN COURT.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Manchester, N. H., May 13.—Among the cases to come up at the term of the Supreme Court now sitting in this city is a rather peculiar one, in which Fred Perkins sues the city for $1000. Three or four years ago there was a sensation in the West Manchester School District, caused by statements made by Mr. Perkins that Miss Della Haines, the teacher, had, excessively whipped his young daughter. A unique feature about the case is that Miss Haines will have as one of her defenders her own sister, Mrs. Charles Brown of Chicago. Mrs. Brown has been official stenographer in the United States Court in Chicago, and afterward married a lawyer, and now assists him in his practice. She came into court this morning, armed with various legal documents, and prepared to make a stout fight for her sister.

LAST HORSE CAR RUN IN.

Hartford, Conn., May 13.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon the last horse car in the city was run into the barn, and all the city lines are now equipped with the overhead electric trolley system. The horse car system was established 35 years ago, and the first trolley car was put on about four years ago.

He shot, meteor-like, into an atmosphere of financial discussion through the medium of a novel book with a novel title. It was broadly advertised, and free copies were scattered about by the friends of the silver cause. Now that the first glamor has disappeared from the novelty it is clear that "Coin's Financial School" is about as empty as a bubble, with reasoning so fallacious and facts so distorted that it is mere recreation for any well-informed financial writer to tear its arguments to shreds. It seems to satisfy the silver wing of the Democracy and has become the text book of that movement, but it lacks the ring of authenticity and the attraction of an interesting style.

If it has done nothing else it has served as a boomerang to the radical silver cause in that it has aroused financiers having much greater familiarity with the development of the present monetary conditions and with the problems of the future. The amount of literature which the book has elicited increases daily. "Coin's Financial School" is one of the best replies, then there is "Coin's Financial School Answered," by the editor of the Bankers' Magazine; "Cash vs. Coin," by a Chicago writer; "3 or 2," by W. B. Mitchell, and "What Is Money?" by Rozel Weissinger of Louisville. Prof. Laughlin, whom "Coin" worked into his book as a mouthpiece for opinions and doubts which he never held, has replied to the misrepresentations and falsties of the book in the Chicago Times-Herald. The manner in which he pulls the silver champion over the coals must make the latter gentleman wish he had never been born, or at least that he had not used Prof. Laughlin's or any other well-informed man's name in his writings.

One of his most striking replies to the tricks of "Coin" deals with the manner in which the silver writer twisted the price of farm products. He chose wheat to represent his point because that staple is not so high in gold now as it was 20 years ago. He must have known, what he manifestly avoids implying, that oats and pork have not shown any deterioration in gold value. The professor brings out in a table that a hundred bushels of wheat will buy more farm machinery now than in 1873, although there has been a considerable falling off in wheat. For example, it required 6.4 bushels of wheat or 15.1 bushels of corn to buy a steel plow in 1873, whereas it required but 3.8 bushels of wheat or 8.5 bushels of corn to buy such a plow in 1893. Similar ratios prevail in the prices of not only plows, but potato diggers, harrows, cultivators, mowers, rakes, binders, hoes, scythes, shovels and all the other farmers' utensils, seventeen kinds of implements requiring only 383.1 bushels to purchase them in 1893, as compared with 664.4 bushels in 1873. Certainly these figures must surprise the friend of "Coin's" wonderful school.

In reply to the charge that the Coinage Act of 1873 was carried through in secret, Prof. Laughlin raises another point for the extreme silver people to refute unless they show all its active vigilance. Happily the work which the league and its kindred associations propose to do falls in harmoniously with the influences which are soon to be dominant in Washington. It is idle to erect tariff barriers against the irruption of cheap foreign goods, when at the same time we permit the almost unlimited irruption of cheap and degraded foreign labor. It is difficult to determine which is the more injurious to our national security and prosperity. Of this there can be no question, that a Republican protectionist Congress can be, and rightly should be, more hospitable to propositions for a more adequate siting of immigration than a Congress committed to the false and foolish policy of free trade. In fact, the leaders of the "tariff reform" propaganda in this country have taken occasion to declare that they do not wish immigration to be further regulated, and they have even gone so far as to stigmatize such a policy as an "ungenerous delusion."

That is not the view of the leaders of the Republican party. It is not the view of the American people. It is the view of persons who are fond of hauling down the American flag, and of sneering at patriotism of mankind and "a selfish conception of humanity." These persons by a recent popular verdict have been sent to the rear to stay there, and the national policy in the years immediately to come is going to be shaped by men who believe that they serve the world the best when they serve their country best, and that nothing is to be gained by a policy which narrows the opportunities and rewards of American labor and corrupts American citizenship.

The protection of American industry and the restriction of immigration are bound to proceed along parallel lines under a Republican Government.

THE STAGE TRUIMPHANT.

The stage has apparently won a great victory. It seems to have absorbed all interest in the pugilistic contests for the championship of the world. The connection between the brutal profession of hammering faces and discoloring eyes on the one hand, and the glorious profession of Shakespeare and Moliere on the other, was discovered but a very few years ago. The connection is through the box office, and those who, in the old days, gained their livelihood by their prowess in the prize ring, have donned the wig and the buskin to make names for their posterity. The loss of the arena is the gain of the theatre. No longer do starvelings with consumptive chests play the role of Charles the wrestler. No more do effeminate and tapering fingers draw the trigger, whose down-coming sends Harold Hawkesworth into eternity. The Man from Boston, or Gentleman Jim, or some other ex-champion has cleaned the stage walk, the stage pose, the stage air, and the fist that has won $50,000 at one to appear and show cause why he should not be punished. PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

The Three Phases of Harry McCullom's Matrimonial Career.

Harry McCullom, who almost died in Malden Sunday from the effects of a dose of laudanum, told the police that he took it to counteract the effects of drink. It is now believed that it was a case of at- tempted suicide. McCullom is held at the Malden police station on an old charge of larceny, while his past life is being looked into.

McCullom was married to a Malden woman two years ago, but she soon left him on account of his fondness for liquor, and has been trying to get a divorce. There have been rumors afloat to the effect that he had another wife, but he always denied them until Sunday, when he told his wife, as she says, it was true. He was drunk at the time, and then took the poison. He de- clared that he was going to die, and asked forgiveness, which was given.

Mrs. McCullom's mother says that last summer he fired a pistol at her, after in- ducing her to sign some papers. She also said that her daughter had found letters from a woman in Portland, which indicated that McCullom had been paying the writer some attention.

St. John, N. B., May 13.—Schooner Mabel, Capt. W. Copp, went ashore a mile from Lepreux Light early this morning in a fog. Light is a total loss. She is insured for $500. The vessel was loaded with 150 tons of coal at Joggins's mines for Calais, Me. for Hill, Pike & Co. The Mabel was 80 tons.

BROWN DENIES IT.

Regarding the report that Mrs. Ada Brown, wife of Alexander Brown of the Sil- ver Grill Cafe, had eloped with Illes Aladar, leader of the orchestra that until recently played at the Grill, Mr. Brown says: "Why, such talk as that is absurd. Aladar has not been here for three weeks, and my wife is not with him. The trouble is just difficulty here and when my wife, who by the way had some money in the business, heard of it, she thought she was going to lose all she had, and became ill. It affected her brain and it became necessary for me to put her under the care of a physician.

GINESUPPI CHRISTOFORO GETS FIVE YEARS FOR FREELY USING HIS PISTOL.

Giuseppe Christoforo was yesterday con- victed in the Superior Criminal Court of as- sault with intent to murder John Thomas and of assault and battery upon Thomas Mortimer, on March 21. The scene of the assaults was at the corner of Endicott and Cooper Streets. Christoforo and a relative of Christoforo's had been drinking and Christoforo's hat was knocked off. He grew angry and threatened his companion unless he picked it up. The demand was inter- heeded, and Christoforo pulled out his pocket a revolver and aimed it at him. Christoforo, in the interest of peace, inter- posed between the two men. His mis- sion was misconstrued by Christoforo, who discharged his revolver, the bullet striking Christoforo in the back of the head. He con- tinued to fire shots at random, and Mort- mer, who happened to be in the neighbor- hood, had a narrow escape, as a stray bul- let pierced his clothing.

Judge Fessenden sentenced the defendant to the State Prison for five years.

MUSIC NOTES.

The Bach Choir, Mr. Martin Roeder con- ductor, will give the last concert of its present season Wednesday at the Art Club Building. Several compositions of J. S. Bach, which are new to this city, will then be sung. The chorus will be assisted by Mrs. F. B. Whitney, Miss Lucie Tucker, Miss Hattie Hayes, Miss Welsh, and Messrs. Gav. Herbert, Delmont and Mann. Mrs. Helen Boice-Hunsicker, the soprano, assisted by Master Arthur M. Hartmann, violinist, will give the first of two concerts this evening in Copley Hall. The program is interesting, and the artists are well recommended.

The Promenade Concert last evening gave much pleasure to the large audience. The novelties were Gillet's "Clair de Lune," a waltz, "Diesen Kuss der ganzen Welt," by Ziehrer, and a polka by Waldteufel. The program this evening will include se- lections from the works of Mendelssohn, Auber, Strauss, Verdi, Moszkowski, Pottow, Handel, Suppé, Waldteufel, and Millocker. A musicale will be given Thursday evening in Union Hall by pupils of Mrs. Sherman Raymond, assisted by the Beacon Orchestral Club.

VISIT THE FAIR.

Red-Coated Fusiliers See the Wonders at the Pharmacy Show.

There was a noticeably brilliant gathering at the Pharmacy Fair last evening. The veteran organization of the Independent Boston Fusiliers, 100 strong, were the prin- cipal visitors of the occasion. They were in full uniform and were under command of Maj. Henry A. Snow. They attracted much attention, and, with their friends, ex- pressed deep appreciation of their reception by the managers of the fair.

Today excursions from New Bedford, Plymouth and Middleboro, Mass., will bring the usual throng of outsiders. The at- tendance today will also be augmented by the presence of the members of the Massa- chusetts State Pharmaceutical Association, whose fourteenth annual convention opens in Codrington Hall in the afternoon. The convention will be called to order at 2.30 o'clock by President F. M. Harris of Worcester. The afternoon will be devoted to the preliminary business of the session.

In the evening Prof. James F. Babcock will give a lecture on the various applica- tions of photography.

In a pleasant room, arranged especially for the purpose, a number of children from the City Street, Day Nursery were enter- tained all day yesterday. They indulged in kindergarten games and various other amusements, not the least of which was a luncheon at noon, after which they were tucked away in cribs for an afternoon sleep.

Mrs. F. K. Hayes, Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. William F. K. Hayes, of the little ones, were in charge of the little ones.

Dr. Mary W. Green of Charlotte, Mich., Vice President of the Household Economic Association, began her course of lectures "Food Values," which is to continue through the week. This afternoon Mary Sargent Hopkins will give a practical talk on the "Bicycle and its Relation to Women." Several bicycle clubs will be in ...winters could the patronage invariably keeps up to high water mark.

Weber and Fields, the famous duo of Dutch comedians, headed the bill, and it is only necessary to say that they fully sus- tained the reputation they have previously achieved here. The clever comedians have a new feature this time in the form of a burlesque on bowling, and it is no exaggera- tion to say that it is one of the most lud-icrous and irresistibly laughable bits of comedy work ever seen in Boston.

The Russell Brothers began the second and last week of their engagement, appear- ing in their always enjoyable delineation of the peculiarities of two Irish servant girls. Their rapid, eventful dancing, combined with James Russell's rare fund of humor and his brother's sweet singing, make a specialty that always invokes the utmost hilarity and applause, and which is marked by refinement from beginning to end.

Of Wood and Sheppard it is hardly neces- sary to say anything. In the line of black face musical comedians, they are beyond comparison, and impress their audiences not only in the capacity of fun makers, but on account of their undisputed talent as in-strumental musicians.

The Dillon Brothers, the monarchs of all parody singers and writers, introduced their usual hit. They have an entirely new repertoire of vocal travesties on all the latest popular comic and sentimental songs. Among other entertainers worthy of men- tion are the Three Marjories, the favorite dancing trio; Arthur E. Rogers, the favorite monologue star; The Glad Brothers, glad-itorial acrobats; Chas. Diamond, the origi- nator of song and dance artist; Evans and Vidoco, the quartet comers; and W. J. Mills, a mimic and character actor, who, in a unique crea- tion, will introduce a new and original character; Willis and Halpin, descriptive charac- ter singers; Frank Riley, the phenomenal equilib-rist; and Frank Riley, the man negro imperson- ator, and Dunlop's beautiful electric four- tain.

AT OTHER HOUSES.

Richard Golden entered last evening on his closing week at the Grand Opera House in "Old Jed Proxy." Mr. Golden has been for several years identified with this New England sketch, and has won dollars and renown for his clever impersonation of the kind-hearted old man from Down East. The audience last evening was very large and enthusiastic.

The City Sports Burlesque Company is giving an enjoyable popular show at the Howard Athenaeum twice every day. The entertainment consists of two lively travesties, a parley, a vandeville olio, the strong cards of which Jack and Rosa Parke, the champion lightweight boxers, and a con- tinuous olio, which among a dozen others, is the well known Clipper Quartet.

There were crowds all day long, and up to the closing performance of the evening at Audin & Stone's Museum yesterday. The cat on bicycles continued the feature of the lecture hall, and this event seemed to attract the greater attention. Alice Thompson, the Vermont cyclist in the world, and one of Vermont's daughters, is a pressing rival of Jennie Johnson of minstrel song fame.

Katherine Rober appeared at the Grand Museum yesterday as Medall in the melodrama, "Stricken Blind." Miss Rober expects to tour Great Britain during the summer months. There was also an at- tractive vandeville bill, in which a num- ber of clever people participated.

The first and only exhibit we have ever had from Hawaii, that country which is interesting all nations, is the one in the old Gettysburg Building, at 541 Tremont Street, which commenced its third week in Boston yesterday. "TRILBY" RETURNED.

Hundreds of spectators crowded the Bos- ton Theatre Monday evening. They were there to see "Trilby," and they were de- termined that Du Maurier's heroine should have her chance. For instance, when after the second act, curtain calls came for Taffy, the Laird, Billie and Madame Vinard and then for Svengali, the specta- tress wished to honor the lady with the match- less feet, but in vain. They were persis- tent, however, and as a result the orches- tra played nearly the whole entr'acte music, with an obligato of applause.

This demonstration was deserved, for the Trilby of Miss Mabel Amber was one of the greatest successes of the performance by "A. M. Palmer's Unrivaled Company," which is almost totally different from that which gave the original production. Had we not seen Miss Harned, Lackaye, Mc- Intosh and Dietrichstein, the performance would have seemed a remarkable one, but first memories are hard to efface, and do what they would, the new actors, admir- able though they all were, could not make us forget the originals. As in the other production the actors were particularly suc- cessful in reproducing the features of Du Maurier's creations, and the kindnesses won by the actors before a word was spoken, have been remembered by the thousands of

AT THE PARK THEATRE.

The Park Theatre has been given over this week to a series of performances for the benefit of the Massachusetts Homeo- pathic Hospital, and last evening at that theatre, and under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Association, Mr. Benjamin Webster's "One Touch of Nature," or the new Grundy's "The Arabian Nights," or the Guila-Percha Girl," were given before an audience which well filled the lower portion of the house, but left many vacant seats in the balconies.

The entertainment provided last night was such an excellent one, and the object for which it was intended such a worthy one, that it is hoped the theatre will be crowded for the remainder of the week.

"One Touch of Nature" has been seen in this city before, and needs no introduction to Boston theatre-goers, but it can be said that the principal characters in the lit- erary drama were golden comelums from the appreciative audience. Miss Grace MacLarkin and Messrs. Kendall Weston and Edwin Holland being compelled to bow their acknowledgments even after the fall of the curtain.

The production of "The Arabian Nights" was made notable by the fact that Miss Louise Beaudet, so widely known as an operatic star, and whose recent successes in "Puritania," and "Jacinta" are still fresh in mind, had been especially engaged by the management to assume the principal role, that of Rosa Colombar, and that the man- agement had acted wisely in their selection goes without saying. Miss Beaudet was sprightly and vivacious in every move and gesture, and added new laurels to the al- ready large number she has won in this city. Her singing and dancing were warm- ly applauded. The other characters were all very good, notable among which were Miss Helen Reimer, whose assumption of the vixenish mother-in-law was an excellent piece of acting; Miss Belle Stokes, whose Daisy Matland was chic and charming; Miss Lamkin, Miss Constance Fairchild, and Messrs. Holland, Weston, Geary, and Leslie.

Local Gas Companies Hold Important Meeting.

J. Edward Addicks Is Elected President.

Matthews Said to Be Out of Gas Entirely.

Looks Like Bay State and Brookline Union.

The meeting of the Directors of the local gas companies was held at the office on West Street Monday morning. J. Edward Addicks was elected President of the company.

ADDICKS SAYS.

The New President Makes a Statement, Vague in Some Ways.

After the meeting the following authoritative statement was given out by Mr. Addicks:

"Thomas W. Lawson was elected a Director and Vice President of Dorchester Gas Light Company. Director and Vice President of Bay State Gas Company, Director of all the other companies, and will be Vice President of them all as soon as the by-laws are altered to permit the election of a Vice President.

MATTHEWS OUT.

An Official Says He Will Withdraw Entirely From the Companies' Concerns.

The meeting was called to order by President Addicks at 11 o'clock, and the business of electing officers was at once gone into. The ticket had been prepared with the following names: J. Edward Addicks, President; Thomas W. Lawson, Vice President; Parker C. Chandler, General Counsel. The meeting was very brief, and went off quietly.

would bring about a state of affairs that would not only starve the destruction of values, then in progress, but bring back some portion of the cruel and to my mind, needless losses that had been sustained by innocent investors. Some of the results of my work in the direction of bringing about this state of affairs the public has seen, and I think, during the past 30 days, rightly interpreted.

"My election today was for the purpose of furthering the end which I have in the past, and do now, believe inevitable—a fair, decent settlement of gas affairs in Boston, a settlement of rights, while giving to consumers all rights, will give to investors a fair return on their securities. I believe the day is past when the anarchistic preachings that have been heard in our old Commonwealth will be tolerated, and that the day is here when the rights of corporations representing the honest savings of the people, as well as the equally honest accumulations of the rich investor, will be given at least an equal consideration with the theories of ambitious politicians.

"Cutting the earning power of a great corporation in two, thereby absolutely destroying over $1,000,000 of invested wealth under the city of getting even with the gas kind, may be fun for politicians, but it is poverty and misery to scores of citizens. Massachusetts has no right to let its citizens be protected. I believe the work of destroying values in gas before it can be put to use will help to keep the best efforts with that end in view."

OLMSTEAD'S RESIGNATION.

Overworked and Borne Down With Affliction, the Cambridgeport Pastor Will Seek a Long Rest—The Deep Regret of His People.

The Plurim Congregational Church of Cambridgeport is stirred to its depths over the resignation of its pastor, Rev. Charles Olmstead, who, for six years, has guided the destinies of the church with great success. Mr. Olmstead read his letter of resignation at the close of the morning service Sunday. Within the last year Mr. Olmstead has suffered great affliction in the loss of his wife and son, and for the last two or three months he has been in no condition to bear the burden of the increased work of the parish.

NO BICYCLE ROAD.

House Rejected the Boynton Road to Beverly Bill.

The Defeat of the Measure Was Almost Unanimously Made.

It Was Characterized as a Dangerous Act by Mr. Jones.

The House Monday rejected the bill for a railroad from Boston to Beverly, to be operated under the Boynton "bicycle" patents. The Senate postponed until Wednesday the bill authorizing the Brookline Gas Company to lay its pipes over Fort Point Channel. The House passed the anti-"Bucket Shop" bill, 108 to 61. Four of the adverse reports in Cape Cod Canal petitions were accepted in the Senate. The Senate rejected the bill to exempt from taxation shares of stock held in foreign corporations. The House reconsidered endorsement of the Caucus bill, amended it and again passed it to be engrossed.

IT IS REJECTED.

Boynton Bicycle Railroad Bill Defeated in the House Monday.

The Boynton Bicycle Railroad bill, for a line between Boston, Lynn and Beverly, to be operated under the Boynton patents, met a disastrous defeat Monday in the House. Mr. Stanley of New Bedford said that the bill was worthy of careful scrutiny before it should be passed to be engrossed. The bill, drafted last year, he said, imposed on this railway no more onerous conditions than any other steam road. He said in the House that the public had been misled into the necessity of such a road as a community may say where the action shall be but that any other motor power is allowed and the bill savors strongly of stock watering. The provision giving the right to mortgage property reduces the chances of the abutter to recover damages.

Mr. Roberts of Chelsea agreed with the previous speaker that the bill should be closely examined. His main objection to the measure was the absolute compulsion on the part of cities and towns to let this road within their limits whether the necessity of such a railway appears or not. "We are giving to this company a decidedly roving permission," he said, "in the passage of such a measure."

Mr. Pennington of Brockton said that while he had no personal interest in the matter, and his district would not be affected by the building of the road, he wished to express his belief that the bill, in its present form, is a dangerous piece of legislation to enact. He understood that the people of that portion of the State where it proposes to run have not only not asked for this road, but protest against it. Mr. Pennington quoted from an article written by Hon. Alden Spaulding in opposition to the road, and published in the public press.

Called a Dangerous Act.

Mr. Jones of Melrose begged the members of the House not to trust the splendid record of the Legislature thus far by the passage of any such dangerous act as that proposed, and he pointed out features of the bill which he considered objectionable, particularly those which provide for the filling of the canal.

Messrs. Nell of Bristol and Quinn of Suffolk. Mr. Nell said he had called on the Governor last week, and had learned that Mr. Greenhalge saw no reason why the matter should be further delayed, having completed his personal examination of the company. Postponement was voted, 15 to 13.

ADVERSE CANAL REPORTS.

Senate Accepted Them in Case of Four of the Petitioners.

The adverse reports of the Committee on Harbors and Public Lands on the petitions for incorporation of the Cape Cod Canal Company, the Cape Cod Canal Transportation Company, the Plymouth Ship Canal Company, and the Old Colony Canal Company, were accepted, in concurrence with the House.

The House bill relative to the liability of innholders for losses sustained by guests, which the Senate Judiciary reported ought not to pass, was rejected, 7 to 3.

LOOKING TO PROROGATION.

Order for Evening Session of the House on Wednesday Is Opposed.

The Legislature is bending its thoughts to prorogation. In the House Monday an order was offered by Mr. Prevaux of Amesbury and laid over until today, providing for an evening session Wednesday.

On motion of Mr. Moriarty of Worcester the petition of the Mayor of Cambridge, that cities and towns may be authorized to build and maintain underground conduits for electric wires, was referred to the next General Court, without debate. Mr. Moriarty explaining that this disposition of the matter was agreed to by those who presented the petition.

AMENDMENTS TO SUBWAY ACT.

Mr. Jones of Melrose Will Offer Them in the House to Perfect Act.

In the House Monday, Mr. Jones of Melrose gave notice of intention to move certain amendments to the act amending the Subway act. The amendments proposed are perfecting in their nature, and provide for the connection of the tracks in the subway with any surface or "elevated" railway, and also that the interest on the debt incurred for the construction of the subway or any part thereof shall be considered as part of the cost of construction until such subway or part thereof is open for use.

AMENDED AND PASSED.

House Reconsidered Caucus Bill and Then Sent It Right Along.

The House voted to reconsider the passage of the caucus law, by 69 to 46. Mr. Osgood of North Andover then offered an amendment by which the polls must be kept open at least 15 minutes. This amendment was adopted, as was another exempting towns of less than 6000 from provisions of the act so far as they relate to nominating or choosing candidates for various town officers, unless the act is accepted by the majority of the voters present at the caucus. The act was then passed to be engrossed.

WORK OF THE GAS COMMISSION.

Many Applications for Increase of Stock Heard and Acted Upon.

The Gas and Electric Light Commission has approved the issue by the Suburban Gas and Electric Light Company of Revette, the reorganization of the old North Shore Electric Company, of $60,000 new stock; also an issue of $7000 new stock by the Milton Light and Power Company of Milton. Hearings have been given on the application by the Nantucket Electric Company for the approval of an issue of $20,000 bonds, this company being the reorganization of the old Nantucket Company, and also on the application by the Braintree Light and Power Company of Braintree for approval of an
